

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

NOT MYSTERY.—Item in the news has interest. Queen Mother Mazil of Egypt arrived in the country and went to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. The interesting part is that only a comparatively few years ago Egypt to all but a few was a distant place of mystery—the Land of the Pharaohs, the land where the Israelites, sons of Abraham, were kept in bondage. At the turn of this century only a few could go so far. It was a land of mystery. Now we hear radio talks from Cairo, get information within a few minutes after an occurrence there. Time changes. The world has grown much smaller. It will grow still smaller.

TWO ITEMS.—There were two other items holding at least a bit of significance without straining the mind. A Forest Preserve letter called attention to the limited number of June bugs this year—tells how they lay eggs, in a little bunch of dirt, in shallow burrows. A grub follows hatching. But the grub leads a dangerous life. Hogs, birds, and other field mammals find Mr. Grub good eating. Then there is a black wasp which burrows down, paralyzes the grub with a sting, lays its egg, and the newly hatched wasp will suck on the grub till it's finally consumed. Nature, so gloriously beautiful in many phases, has its black aspects, too.

THE OTHER ITEM.—A Spanish bull fighter died recently. He had tortured and killed many bulls. He was a "hero" to bull-fight followers in Spain, and they number into hundreds of thousands. There bull-fighting is as popular as is our American baseball. But a bull finally caught the fighter on his horns. And that was the end of the torturer. He was buried with great honors, thousands of men and women standing in silence broken only by sobs of deep anguish for the hero. Here we think of that as brutality, in effect mentally, at least, shouting, "Down with bull-fighting," then go off to a prize fight to see two men try to beat each other into unconsciousness. Those beastly Spaniards!

MINERS' WAGES.—Much has been said of miners' wages, and it is not unlikely that next year beetle-browed John L. Lewis will be weeping his usual crocodile tears for the "poor miners" and asking an increase in wages. But don't let John fool you. His miners are doing much better financially than the average man in industry, where often a much higher degree of skill is required. In 10 classifications, miners receive from $1.50 to more than $2.25 an hour. And that's not "hay," regardless of John's apparently (at times) broken heart for his "suffering" miners.

REWARDED.—A man who did more than just "what he was paid for" has been rewarded with $100,000. His employer, leaving the fortune to her chauffeur of 25 years, wrote in her will that the bequest was made because of "his kind consideration for me at all times." Many employees might find fortunes of their own making if they gave "kind consideration" to jobs and employers. That's the way many workers lift themselves to happy financial positions.

DESTRUCTIVE.—But unions, acting upon examples of selfishness, by too many business concerns, have restricted initiative and instilled the philosophy of "do as little as possible and get all you can." Too many workers follow that philosophy, and suffer in the long run.

BAD NEWS.—Ship explodes, killing many, injuring more. . . . Man divorces wife of 20 years because she cannot again bear children. . . . Russia goes wildly on her way to tempting war. . . . Misery, struggle, death. . . . But . . .

IT GREW.—A few years ago I planted a flower garden. It, like millions of others, grew into breath-taking brightness of the flowers. . . . amid ing beauty. Winter comes to darken all the troubles in the earth, we know spring and flowers will come back to those of us in the north. . . . and happiness will bloom in our souls because of the beauty.

TAKE A TRIP.—Of course, if you can't wait for spring, fix up your bag, grab a few thousand-dollar bills, and lie away to the South.

David Gode Doing Well In Hospital

David Gode, son of the Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Gode of Mokena, is making good recovery in Silver Cross hospital, where he underwent an operation for a ruptured appendix Wednesday, 10th.

Becoming ill the previous Sunday, the illness was not considered important, until Wednesday, when he was taken to Silver Cross. David is in room 137 of the hospital.

Officers Elected

The following were elected last Tuesday to serve as officers in St. John's Sunday school for a year: Wilbur Mancke, superintendent; Leigh Kropp, assistant superintendent; Marie Bruhn, recording secretary; Roy Kohl, treasurer; Donald Yunker, financial secretary; Mrs. Roy Kropp, superintendent of primary and beginners.

Battle of Sicily Flag To Be Part Of Sunday Parade

Officials of Mokena homecoming celebrations, starting tomorrow, Friday, announce that all details are in readiness for the three-day show, an annual affair drawing visitors from great distances as well as from the areas within 50 miles of the village.

The big parade Sunday, officials stated, will be larger than any previous homecoming, according to acceptances and applications for a part in the parade.

Legion posts, V.F.W. posts, Boy and Girl Scout groups, Joliet U. S. army recruiting service, and New Lenox band are to be among the participants on the giant parade scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

"It's to be a great show," Civic association officials in charge of the three-day fun-show stated, with a large list of amateurs slated to do a lot of entertaining Sunday.

Amusement attractions, of course will include the Miller Enterprises, providing a gay midway for funsters and those who like life and lights.

A children's bicycle parade is to be a feature of the parade, it was announced. The committee announced that no advance applications are required for joining the parade. The only requirement is that bicycles and automobiles and other vehicles be decorated.

Participants in the parade, it was stated, will assemble at the Mokena public school grounds for formation at 2:30 o'clock. The parade is scheduled to start from the school grounds promptly at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The army recruiting unit is expected to attract wide attention, with its colorful display, loudspeaker, and searchlight.

Flag bearers on horses, leading the parade, will be Bob Benson and George Bennett, the latter carrying a flag that went through the battle of Sicily.

Frankfort-New Lenox 4-H Club News

The final meeting of the current 4-H year was held Tuesday evening September 9.

Talks on various phases of their projects were given by Don Hinsper, Pat Knowles, and George Archibald. Don gave a summary of the 4-H fair, while Pat told of how she cared for her steer. George's talk was on a new fly spray recently made available.

At the next meeting, scheduled for October 9, officers for the coming year will be chosen. Serving as officers for the past year have been Bob Walker, president; Gene Rice, vice-president; Don Stephens, secretary and treasurer; Kathryn McKinley, recreation chairman; Don Hunter, reporter. Jack Chestnut has aided Mr. Francis as assistant club leader. Don Hunter, reporter.

Frankfort's Mrs. C. Knippel Passes Away

Mrs. Catherine E. Knippel, 72, of Frankfort, wife of William Knippel, trucker and retired farmer, died Wednesday afternoon at Silver Cross hospital, where she had been a patient through the past four weeks.

The former Catherine Claassen, born in Germany, September 3, 1875, was taken to New Lenox when eight years old. Twelve years later, following her marriage to Mr. Knippel, March 21, 1895, she went with her husband to live in Frankfort. They have lived in the community ever since.

Survivors in addition to her husband are a son, Roland; two sisters, Mrs. Dean Gillette of Lockport and Mrs. John Warning of New Lenox; two brothers, John Claassen of Joliet and William Harka of New Lenox, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church at 2:30 p. M. The Rev. Eric Bizer officiated. Burial was in the Pleasant Hill cemetery, Frankfort.

St. John's Church Being Redecorated

St. John's church, Mokena, is undergoing a redecorating program, the pastor, the Rev. William J. Riemann, has reported.

Contractors moved in this week, erected scaffolding and equipment, and a crew of workmen began the work of redecorating the chancel, nave, and all the upper rooms in the church.

Although the work is expected to require 10 days for completion, the pastor announced that church services will be held as usual.

Constitution

The date September 17, 1787, was a most momentous day in the history of our country, for on that day was born the Constitution of the United States of America.)

The law of our land which America the answer to a prayer helped to make That freedom, right, and justice might prevail;

Where man might dare To call his soul his own.

For this great heritage let us with grateful hearts, Give thanks, Americans, And pledge anew the work of hearts and hands As we support the principles For which our Constitution stands.

—Elizabeth Bush

Scout Troops Start Season

Mokena Boy Scout Troop resumed activities last Monday evening with 22 boys present. After a period of touch football, the meeting was continued in the school gymnasium. Philip Howell was inducted as a Tenderfoot scout. This increases the number of active scouts to 24. These are divided into four patrols with the following patrol leaders: Ramon Gunhouse, Jack Martie, James Needham, and Frederick Rauch.

The immediate service project is to assist in every possible way in the Mokena homecoming September 19, 20, and 21.

Application has been made for tickets to the first Northwestern football game.

During the summer 14 boys were in camp for one week at the Scout reservation at Morris. All earned merits in scoutcraft, and many in campercraft and woodcraft. The troop was awarded two plaques, one for attendance and the other service for the erection of light poles.

Car Turns Over, Riders Uninjured

Gordon Spiess of Mokena and a friend escaped injury last Saturday evening when his car turned turtle while rounding a curve.

The car, likewise, was reported as not damaged. The accident occurred at a curve in Mokena road near the Lawrence Kohl farm.

Improves After Eye Operation

Mrs. Lura Johnston of New Lenox, a surgical patient in Silver Cross hospital, who underwent a serious operation on her right eye two weeks ago, is improving.

"GREATEST PROBLEM" FOR THE U. S.

The Semmler Newspapers present here the first of a series of discussions by members of the U. S. Congress relating to problems before the people of the United States, by courtesy of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Major problem facing the United States is the restoration of orderly government in the opinion of Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, Republican Speaker of the House of Representatives, above, who is quoted in the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine as saying:

"Restoration of orderly government is our most urgent problem, for that matter the most urgent problem of the world today. Millions are still displaced, hungry and dazed by the horrible disaster which wrecked their lives and laid waste their lands. These millions turn to the beacon of freedom and security, which, thank God, still burns brightly here. We have a duty to stand as an example of national strength and freedom. Government control over the private affairs of the people must end before peace and order can come to us again."

Bright Light In Night; Garage Burns

A bright light attracted the attention of Mrs. William Kampe early last Thursday morning. Investigation caused an alarm, bringing the Frankfort Volunteer fire department. Their garage was on fire. Firemen found the blaze too far advanced to quench it, but were able to prevent the spread of the fire to the residence and other nearby buildings.

Although the garage was of concrete a storage space overhead and the contents were destroyed and the automobile burned. Quick arrival of the fire department, it was stated, prevented spreading of the flames to other property.

Total amount of loss from the fire has not been assessed.

Ferdinand Scheer

Ferdinand Scheer, 76, a life-long resident of the Frankfort area, died Friday, September 12, in Silver Cross hospital following an illness of three weeks. He was born in Frankfort township and resided there throughout his life. He was married at Frankfort June 24, 1903, to Anna Hansen.

Surviving him are his wife, Anna; one son, Harold; two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Batson and Mrs. Orville Schroeder; one sister, Mrs. Paul Heisner; one brother, John Scheer; also six grandchildren; all of Frankfort.

Funeral services were held Sunday September 14, in St. Peter's Evangelical Reformed church, at 2 p. m., the Rev. Eric Bizer officiating. Interment was at Pleasant Hill cemetery.

Trains Delayed As Pin Shears

Traffic on the Rock Island was delayed for two hours last Saturday evening when a passenger train locomotive had a driver wheel sheared off, bringing the train to a stop about four and a half blocks west of the Tinley Park station.

The accident occurred about 6:30 and Mark Talmadge, Tinley Park welder, was called to cut the loose driver rod free, after which a relief engine towed the disabled locomotive onto a siding, permitting the resumption of traffic.

Boosters To Elect

The Summit Hill Boosters will hold the regular monthly meeting Friday night, September 19, at 8 o'clock. There will be an election of officers. Games and refreshments are planned. Hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Nieman and Mrs. Elmer Bornet.

Third Grader Is Dog's Victim

Doris Yunker, young daughter of Mrs. Forence Yunker, third-grade pupil in Mokena school, Tuesday afternoon was scratched on one hand by a dog believed to be afflicted with rabies.

The dog was seized and tied until officials could arrive to dispatch the dog for examination for the presence of rabies. The child was sent to Dr. Ernest G. McMahon for treatment.

BOARD ADDS TO FIXED SALARIES WITH "TRAVEL EXPENSE" DETOUR

There's going to be $1,000 more in the yearly pay envelopes of Will county's elected officials. This is the result of action taken by the county board of supervisors. Other county officials were granted various increases.

Five Generations

The Frank Zima family of Tinley Park is part of a five-generation family. Mr. Zima is the son of Mrs. Mary Zima of Sharon, Wis., who is the mother of Mrs. Stanley Leavitt, grandmother of the baby Sandra Ann, being held by great-grandmother Mrs. Mary Zima, 61, seated with the great-great-grandfather, Anton Hlinovsky, 89. Mother of the baby, Mrs. Edwin Blazewicz, standing with her mother, will be remembered in Tinley Park as the former Lorraine Leavitt, a Tinley Park school student before the Leavitts moved to Kenosha, Wis.

Widely Dispersed Family Reunion

A happy reunion was held in New Lenox Monday night when the 13 sons and daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rollins got together for the first time. Born and reared in Dothan, Alabama, the children range in age eight states, including, Illinois, Florida, Colorado, New York, and Washington, for the affair. Even their late parents didn't see them all together at the same time.

They started gathering at the home of their sister, Mrs. Charles O. Ellis, and Mrs. F. Carlton Cole, in New Lenox, Sunday, with the last one arriving Monday morning. A family dinner was held in the Rose room of Hotel Louis Joliet Monday evening at 6:30. After that, the evening was spent in getting reacquainted. Some of them have not seen each other for more than 20 years.

With the exception of the father and mother, who died a few years ago, there has not been a death in the immediate family.

One of the daughters, Kathleen Rollins, is a well-known New York writer, author of several books, including, "Honeymoon Path," "Bridge to Paradise," "Trust with the Stars," and "Impassioned Foothills."

The only other Illinois member of the family is Mrs. C. E. Way of Wheaton.

Tinley Building Operations Grow

Tinley Park has another large dollar volume added to its real-estate-and-homes-development program.

Last Saturday, Elmore Realty, already with approximately 50 houses finished, under construction, or ready to start, filed another application for permits for home structures totalling $119,000.

This is the largest individual group filing since the building boom developed in Tinley Park. Unmatured plans, although definite, indicate that in the next 12 months another 100 homes in addition to those previously announced, will be built in Tinley Park.

Grover C. Emore, speaking of development plans, stated that he has unlimited confidence in Tinley Park's future, and intends to continue building until the needs of the rapidly growing village have been fully satisfied.

The plans filed Saturday call for 13 residence buildings at an average of $9,200 a house. The buildings, according to the plans, will vary in size and selling price.

With plans recently filed by the Lewis development, the present construction and planned construction for home building alone amount to approximately $300,000. Added to this is the new locker plant now nearing completion, representing approximately $80,000, plus other private building operations. Tinley's 1947 program is nearing the half-million-dollar mark.

Raschke Worries Fish

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Raschke are up in Hayward, Wis., and reports via "fish telegraph" tell of conversation because of the judge's arrival. He also is doing some hunting, he says, and altogether the family—they're all there.

The increase for the elected officers was made by the commissioners under the heading of "traveling expenses," their salaries being set by law and the commissioners not having authority to change their fixed income.

The increase was provided in a resolution which set office expense and clerk hire for each for the fiscal year.

The budget also provided additional $1,000 allowances for Coroner E. A. Kingston and for County Auditor Herman Grassle, with an allowance of $500 for State's Attorney James E. Burke. Traveling expense for County Superintendent of Schools Louis F. Bottino was upped $200, making a total allowance of $600.

To the county clerk was allowed $31,000, an increase of $5,000 over last year; and $1,000 for office expense; for the county treasurer, $32,500, for clerk hire and office expense, an increase of $4,000; Circuit clerk, $9,350 for clerk hire, $800 more than last year; office expense of $600.

Clerk hire of the recorder was set at $10,593, or $960 more than last year; and $300 for office expense.

An increase of $800 was voted in clerk hire for the probate clerk, giving him $9,350 for clerk hire with his office expense set at $200, the same as last year.

Sheriff Kirincich was allowed $1,950 for office expense, $150 more than last year. Chief Deputy Sheriff William Barrowman was granted a raise from $3,000 to $3,450.

After passing the resolution setting the clerk hire, the finance committee took an oral slap at the county clerk for exceeding his allocated office expense by $18,000 last year. The money was made up from the county officers fund. A resolution directs the county clerk, his chief deputy, Nicholas J. Kirincich and the committee to settle with the county clerk to act together to see that no further over-expenditure occurs. The resolution reads in part:

"It is imperative that under no circumstances shall the county clerk expend sums of money which will exceed the appropriation.

"WHEREAS, the responsibility of the disbursement of said moneys as appropriated rests with the county clerk, the chief deputy of the county clerk's office and the committee to settle with the county clerk,

"Therefore be it resolved that the county clerk shall under no circumstances exceed the appropriation heretofore made as aforesaid and it is hereby made the responsibility of the county clerk, the chief deputy and the committee to settle with the county clerk to see that under no circumstances shall the appropriation heretofore made, be exceeded."

In an interview with County Clerk Hartley, he gave his version for the justification of the costs criticised by the county board of commissioners. Lack of space makes it necessary to hold the story resulting from the interview until next week.

FIREMEN SET WATER FIGHT THIS SUNDAY

Southern Cook county firemen are to converge upon Tinley Park this Sunday, the 21st, with fight in their eyes—and in their hose pipes, too, firemen say.

That's the date of the water fight by firemen, a contest for championship of the district. The spectacular water fights will be a part of a firemen's picnic by the association, to be held at Saenger hall in Tinley.

Clowning is to be part of the fun provided, and entertainment with games for children as well as for adults has been announced.

Winners of the water fight will hold the firemen's trophy until beaten, in 1948 or later, but if unbeaten through three years, the trophy becomes the permanent possession of the fire group winning it Sunday in Tinley Park.

Miss Yunker's Wedding Date Set

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yunker have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Walter Hentsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hentsch. The marriage has been set for Sunday afternoon, September 28, at 2:30, in St. John's Evangelical church, Mokena, with the Rev. William J. Riemann, officiating.

A reception at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, in Orland High school gymnasium, will follow the ceremony. Invitations, it was stated, are not necessary.

Area of American Farms Grows

According to Federal statistics the area of the average American farm has grown from 174 acres in 1940 to 190.1 acres in 1945. With about 86,000 fewer farms there are nearly 82,000,000 more acres in cultivation.

GIRLS! WOMEN! try this if you're NERVOUS

On "CERTAIN DAYS" Of Month—

Do female functional monthly disturbances make you feel nervous, irritable, so weak and tired out—at such times? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this! Taken regularly — Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such distress. Also a great stomachic tonic!

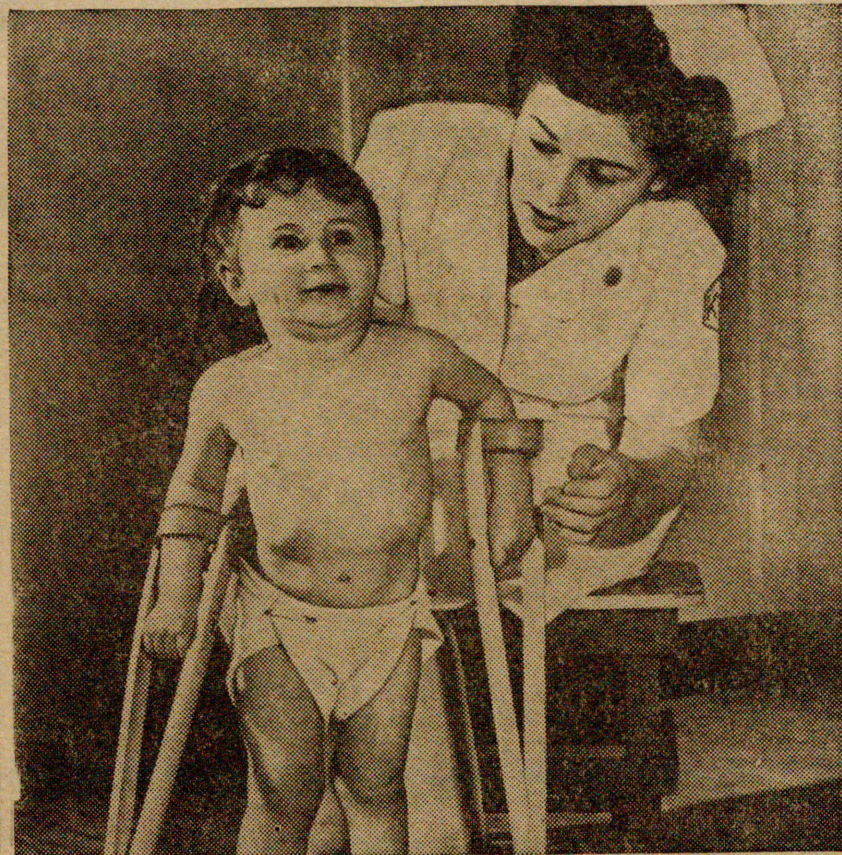

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

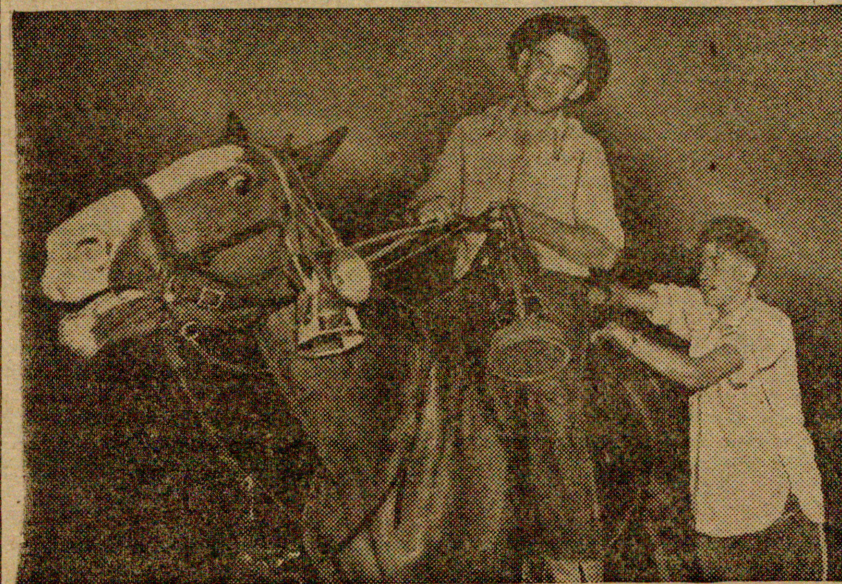

FAITH IS INDESTRUCTIBLE . . . The beautiful cathedral at Leghorn, Italy, ravaged by the war, is now little more than the spirit of a place of worship. Some of the debris has been cleared up, and all that was salvageable was saved for use in reconstruction. Meanwhile, the people continue to go to the ruins to pray as they always did, for neither bombs nor shells nor the destruction of their cathedral could dent their faith.

HOLLAND CHEESE AUCTION . . . Every Friday morning during the summer, thousands flock to the cheese market at Alkmaar, Holland, where for centuries the famous, delectable cheeses from north Holland are auctioned off. This year, Dutchmen can only look at their cheeses. They get none to eat, because the bulk of the cheese produced is being shipped overseas to speed the country's postwar economic recovery. Here, cheese carriers move a 300-pound bier of cheese to the scales.

ENROLLS AT NEW KENNY FOUNDATION . . . Helping little Charlotte Jarenko take her first steps with the aid of crutches after she was stricken with polio is Shirley Askland of Chicago, first Illinois nurse to be enrolled by the recently dedicated chapter of the Elizabeth Kenny foundation at Centralia, Ill. Following 13 months' training in the Kenny institute at Minneapolis, she came to Centralia to complete her two-year course.

OLD DOBBIN LIGHTS UP . . . In Hempstead, L. I., for one reason or another, a city ordinance was passed requiring that all horses must be equipped with headlights and rear reflectors if they go out after dark. This action immediately gave rise to several million gags, one of which is shown here. Alfred Surprise, manager of a riding stable in Hempstead, hangs a lantern on his nag, while Archie Young Jr. fixes the taillight.

RITA RETURNS . . . Rita Hayworth, one of filmdom's more durable glamour girls, poses fetchingly on rail of the Queen Elizabeth as she returns from a tour of Europe where she wowed diplomats and dignitaries, as well as just plain people.

PERSIAN CAT . . . Susan Victor, 5, proudly shows off her three-year-old Blue Persian pedigreed cat, Winauma Masterpiece of Chalsu, alias Pudge, who was voted "1947 Cat of the Year" after competing with 15,000 other cats.

LEGION COMMANDER . . . James F. O'Neill, 49, Manchester, N. H., chief of police, is the new national commander of the American Legion, elected at the Legion convention in New York to succeed Paul Griffith. He is a veteran of both wars.

AUXILIARY HEAD . . . New first lady of the American Legion auxiliary is Mrs. Lee William Hutton of Excelsior, Minn., who was unopposed for the office of national president. She succeeds Mrs. Norton H. Pearl of Detroit, Mich.

RICH GIRL, NEW HUBBY . . . American tobacco heiress Doris Duke is pictured with her second husband, Porfirio Rubirosa, after their marriage in Paris. He is Dominican Republic's charge d'affaires in Paris.

NOT CUTE BUT COSTLY . . . The price tag on this character—a shoe-billed stork—read $1,400, but the Philadelphia zoo paid it. He is sometimes called a whale-head, and his habitat is the upper reaches of the Nile.

Pilgrims Did Not Land On Rock, Nor on Dec. 21

America's oldest legend, still widely believed, is that the Pilgrims aboard the Mayflower made their first landing in this country on December 21, 1620, on a rock in what is now Plymouth, Mass., says Collier's. Actually, they first came ashore on Cape Cod the previous November 11.

The rock story is not substantiated by any historical records and did not start until 121 years later.

Back Hurts—

And Your Strength and Energy Is Lost Par

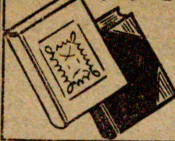

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

DOAN'S PILLS

THE FICTION CORNER

OUT OF THE EMBERS

By NORMAN STANLEY BORTNER

"LET'S talk this thing out," Janice had said. "For good and all." And he had agreed. Not enthusiastically. He thought he knew what it would be like. She was going to be very calm, very noble, very much the long-suffering, patient wife who will go no farther. All right, my dear. If you want one more talk, I'm game. Just so it doesn't end in another row.

He became slightly noble himself. Now that it was all over with them he was suddenly courteous. He spoke to her in a tone he might have used toward any good-looking woman not his wife: "Where would you like to sit while you pronounce sentence?"

She knew at once. She must have been thinking about that. "Not here," she said. "Would you mind if we went down to the cabin?"

The cabin. How long had it been since he had seen the inside of that two-roomed affair beside the river? And what could have made her want to go there, of all places? "Not in the least," he said. "We'll need wraps."

They dressed for the raw December day and went out the west door. Crossing the lawn she took his arm. That was unexpected. And also a little uncalled for, he thought, under the circumstances. Why should she make a game out of splitting up? Thinking that, he stiffened and she felt it. But she did not release his arm. "Remember the first time we came down here together?" she asked.

"Can't say I do."

"You mean you don't want to. It was after our honeymoon. And you held MY arm." Her voice was low and uneven and somehow queer.

"Oh," he said. "What's the matter? Getting a cold?"

"No. Not used to fresh air, I suppose. It'll be all right soon."

"In the Nevada climate, you mean?" She did not answer. Maybe she hadn't meant that. To speak of the advantages of Reno while he remained East would not fit her present mood. There had been times—plenty of them—when the important small niceties of conversation between them had been forgotten, giving way to bitterness and recrimination. But he admitted she had never been crude. To cover his own remark he said: "Has the cabin been kept clean?"

"Quite. It's always in good order. No telling when someone might want to use it. There's some wood there, I'm sure. And you remember how that fireplace heats, Will."

"That's right. I do remember." The worst of it was that he remembered too well, all at once. They had lived there—he and Jan— for a while after their honeymoon. The big house was too big. Too many people around. Too many distractions from each other. So they had moved to the cabin. . . . They had changed a great deal since then. Not in looks. Ten years wasn't very long. In themselves, somehow.

But the cabin had not changed. It was precisely as it had been then. Seemed a bit smaller, but then time always does that to distances and dimensions. He busied himself with the kindling. There was only one big chunk of wood. Enough for a little while. The fire caught nicely.

Jan held her hands to the growing flames. "Feels good," she said. And when the chill had been taken from the room she sat on the sofa and asked him, with a restrained, almost fearful little gesture, to sit beside her. He did, and waited—again very nobly—for her to begin this last talk she wanted.

"The first day we came here you carried me through the doorway, Will."

At last she did. "This is where we started, Will," she said. "Here in this little two-by-four. Do you ever think about that time?"

"Thought of it just a moment ago," he admitted.

"We were happy then, weren't we?"

HE SHRUGGED. "Suppose we were, Jan. But I'm afraid we haven't been very happy since."

"No, not very. . . . And why, Will? Do you know? How did we lose what we had then? Not that it makes any difference, of course. Here we are, and how we got here doesn't really matter, or even who's to blame. . . . Right, Will?"

"Right." He stared into the roaring fire and considered that she was being exceptionally calm. Better than he had hoped.

"The first day we came here you carried me through the doorway Will. I remember thinking, while you held me in your arms, that no girl could have been happier than I was at that moment. No two people could have been more in love. We were—don't laugh, please—we were like that fire is now. Just one consuming blaze of love for each other."

He couldn't help smiling at that. Jan really was in a state, to talk like that. But it disappeared when he turned toward her. She was so close to tears.

"And now, Will, look at us. We've made a wretched mess of things, haven't we?"

"Damned if we haven't." He was nearly noble enough to admit, furthermore, that it had been almost entirely his own fault, but he didn't. She might have agreed with him, and then the row would start. He was quiet for a long while, and then he said: "But fires do go out eventually, and I guess ours has."

"Yes. And what's the use of blowing on cold ashes? . . . But that's why I brought you here to the cabin, Will. I had the wild idea that somehow we could patch it up. Try again. But we've done that too often, haven't we?"

"Too often, Jan."

The room was hushed, after that, for many minutes. Hushed, except for the crackling of the one big chunk and the rush of air through the chimney. And even that slowly decreased. The fire he had built and not replenished was burning out. Just like the fire Jan had spoken of. Burning out. It was a simple thing to throw more wood on a fire. But was it so simple to rekindle their own flame? He decided he was getting morbid.

There were only deep red embers between the andirons when she rose. "I told you last night that nothing would keep me from Reno," she said. "I meant, it, then, but—Will, I'll stay if you want me. I'll do my best to make us happy. We were once, maybe, in some way, we could be again." She waited. He did not move; did not raise his eyes. The embers glowed.

"Will, I said I'd stay if you want me to."

Glowed.

"Must I get down on my knees to you? Is that what you want?"

Glowed dully.

"Too late, then. . . . All right, dear, I'll be packed and on my way in an hour. Would you—do you mind if I kiss you goodbye? Just for old times sake. I—won't bother you any more."

He permitted it quite nobly, and when she had leaned and kissed him full on the lips he turned away from her and toward the fire once more. The door closed behind her.

AN HOUR, she had said. Well, he would wait that long before going back to the house. No use having more farewells.

He did not stir for a long while, frowning at the fireplace. The one big chunk had only a tiny bit of redness along one edge. The rest was cold gray ash, smoking fitfully and not pretty to look at. She had been right. They had been exactly like the fire, blazing up for a time and then cooling to drabness.

"I won't bother you any more." What had she meant by that? Never see him again? He realized suddenly that he WANTED to see her again. It wouldn't be right not to. You can't live with a person ten years and simply forget it, like that. Maybe they could even be good friends, after the divorce, and have some of the fun they missed before. Without the ties of marriage, or the restraints—

He knew he was being very foolish, thinking things like that. It was all over, and she would be strange and distant whenever—IF ever—they met. Friends? Hardly. Jan was out of his life for good—that was settled.

The cabin was getting cold. He had no idea how long he had been sitting alone. Was the hour up? He rose to stir his aching legs and considered hunting more wood for the fire. With the tongs he probed at the ashy big chunk and at his touch the wood which had seemed so cold—so lifeless—jumped into flames, warm, surprising, beautiful.

A single touch had done that. HIS touch.

He gazed open-eyed. And then in quick, bounding leaps he ran up the hill and into the house. Up the stairs. Through a door he had not opened for so very long. The hour was not yet gone.

"Jan," he said. "Jan. You're as slim as you ever were. I'll carry you over, again."

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my neighbors and friends for their thoughtfulness and kindness shown me in my recent illness. The many cards, and gifts, were appreciated.

MRS. WILLIAM HANSEN

P. T. A. Meeting

The first meeting of the Frankfort school Parent-Teacher association was held Wednesday, September 10. Mrs. Leo Peterson, program chairman, called the meeting to order with the pledge to the flag. She then introduced Arlene Borms, who played two selections on her accordion. Mrs. Weichbrodt then took charge and the usual routine business was taken care of. The teachers, Miss Viola Lankenau, principle, Miss Helen Keltz, intermediate room, and Mrs. Annette Fleck, primary teacher, and the school board were introduced and visitors welcomed. The president announced the grant was given a superior rating and a certificate for its year book of last year. They were also awarded a certificate for membership. The proposed budget was read by A. J. Krusemark, Jr. It was decided to hold the subject of a project open until next meeting. Mrs. Peterson then introduced Mrs. Lloyd Coleman and Mrs. Krusemark, who had charge of the program for the evening, the topic being "Education through books." An attractive exhibit of children's books for all ages was displayed. Mrs. Coleman gave an interesting and informative talk on the books and a resume of them. She stressed the point that it is not necessary to pay a large sum for books for the children to get benefit from them. The following committee chairmen were appointed: Program, Bernice Peterson; membership, Marie Mager; budget, A. J. Krusemark, Jr.; magazine, Mabel Fink; historian, Viola Batson; recreation, Hulda Piepenbrink; summer round-up, Pat Harnack; safety, Arlene Heusner; birthday, Bernice Schroeder; Founder's day, Louise Heusner; repair, Fred Weichselberger; nominating, Viola Lankenau; hospitality, Kathrine Miller; construction and by-laws, Wallace Weichbrodt. The October meeting will be in charge of the teen-agers.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Miller and her committee and a social hour enjoyed.

Rally day dates for both Methodist churches will be September 28, the program to be at the regular church hour. Promotion, attendance awards, and programs will be presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Warning and mother, Mrs. Ray Warning, and Mrs. Emma Cappel of Mokena, left Tuesday morning on a motor trip through the western states, with stop-off in Colorado and other places of interest. They will be gone 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kohlstedt entertained a number of friends at cards in honor of Mrs. Kohlstedt's birthday. After the games lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Deuchler of Aurora announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to William C. Bettenhausen of Green Garden. The wedding is to be November 9.

Green Garden W. S. C. S.

Mrs. Mary Bettenhausen entertained the W. S. C. S. of the Green Garden Methodist church Wednesday afternoon in her home. There were eight visitors and 23 members present. Mrs. Mildred Diment gave the devotionals and Mrs. Rosendahl presented the program. Miss Corinne Krapf gave a fine report of their summer camp life at New Lenox, also of Lake Geneva, which she and Gladys Mae Krapf attended. Mrs. Edwin Dralle gave a talk on the present-day liquor situation and its evils, pointing out the great dangers with which the youth of America are surrounded. After the adjournment lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Edna Weber and Violette Bettenhausen. Mrs. Henry Bettenhausen will entertain the society next month.

Sunday guests at the Burton Bredert home were Mr. and Mrs. John Gimple of Joliet.

Sportsmen club met at the village hall Monday night and enjoyed a movie and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Welland entertained in honor of her birthday Monday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heusner and Mr. and Mrs. H. Smit and children.

Mrs. Adolph Ullrich, who has been suffering with neuritis, is improving and able to be around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ullrich entertained a group of friends last Sunday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rosendahl, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dralle, the Alvin Wanners, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bettenhausen, of Green Garden, and the Carl Webers of Marleno. This group of young people have been enjoying these get-together parties for quite some time.

The Sangmeister families, including George Conrad, the Ernest Bennetts, all of Frankfort, Mrs. Lena Laun and her family, the Lauffers and Vollraths of Chicago attended a birthday party of their sister and aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Klose, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Sangmeister and daughters in Joliet Sunday evening. Mrs. Klose has been ill for a number of years. She enjoyed the company and many cards from her friends.

The Lions club met Tuesday night at the village hall for their monthly meeting. Refreshments were served by George Sangmeister, Mrs. Fred Klepper, Mrs. Albert Krusemark, Jr., Mrs. Len Pearson, and Mrs. J. C. Knight.

Visitors in the William Kampe home Sunday were Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Kampe and daughter of Chicago Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kampe and family and William Kaminsky and daughter all of Joliet.

The Misses Dorothy and Betty Vollrath are spending their vacation this week at the home of their parents.

The Women's Guild of St. Peter's church will resume its fall schedule when they meet September 25 by serving their regular monthly dinners. Mrs. Hy. Bredert has charge of the worship period. From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Yes, I'm Guilty!

Folks sometimes criticize us small-town editors for the way we often play up "little things" ahead of big... human, local news in place of world events.

I can't deny it. Read the Clarion and you'll learn about the Martins' golden wedding anniversary... about the community sing down by the river... the husking bee at Sober Hoskins', where neighbors helped husk the corn, and later drank sparkling beer together.

"Little things?" Maybe. But from where I sit, they add up to the bigger things we call America: The friendliness of small towns... the helping hand... the respect for one another's rights. And above all the love of fellowship and freedom—whether it's freedom to speak one's mind or choose between a glass of beer or buttermilk.

I figure that if everybody looks after the "little things," maybe the bigger things will take care of themselves.

When Men From Far Places

Met In A Patch Of Cotton

STONEVILLE, Miss.—Mid-August is no time to be out in a cotton patch. If the crop isn't laid by, it never will be. If the weevils haven't been cleaned out they might as well take the cotton that's left.

But there they were. Men from California, Maryland, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Georgia, Texas, Illinois, standing out in the sun and the dust and the thirsty green plants when they should have been sitting on the side porch, out of the weather, rocking and fanning.

It was cotton that brought them to the Delta Branch Experimental Station. For that matter, only cotton could have brought such a gathering together. Farmers. Equipment manufacturers. Laboratory workers. Economists. Teachers. Agricultural scientists. Fertilizer producers. Textile men. Insecticide producers.

They gathered by the hundreds at Stoneville, Miss., to talk about a wonderful new thing that is happening to cotton and to the six million farm workers whose fate is linked to the fortunes of cotton. Mechanization.

Mechanization. Machines to break the ground that sweating men and blowing mules must labor from dawn to sunset to plow. Machines to relieve weary hoe hands of the back-breaking job of cleaning our Johnson grass in the blistering summer sun. Machines to dust poison on cotton's insect enemies. Machines to end forever the long labor of the harvest.

The wonderful machines were there, for all to see. And to prove that they were no Goldbergerian contraptions never to know functional reality, trained workers climbed into their seats and drove them across demonstration plots of cotton.

It was a breath-taking sight even for the machine manufacturers, and for the agricultural engineers who had helped to design the equipment, for never before had these machines been used thus, all together, as one day they will swing into action all across the Cotton Belt.

It was a better sight for other men, for farmers who had driven for miles to see this demonstration of high promise. They crowded close to the cultivators as they clanked and hissed along, burning out weeds, chopping cotton two and four rows at a time, moving at a good mule trot, never tiring. They watched in intent silence as other machines to fertilize the soil, to spray, to dust, to defoliate, swept along the rows.

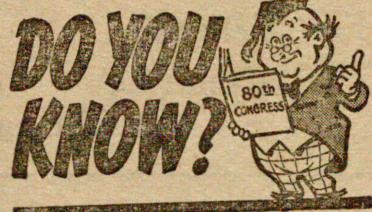

They watched for long hours, the bronze-faced, tough-handed men. Sometimes they touched the machines, talking among themselves, or listening to what the speakers were saying.

"Mechanization is coming to the cotton farm, relieving drudgery.... the farmer will be able to accomplish the chores now requiring the labor of the entire family.... the wife will be left free to improve her home.... the children will be able to attend school for the full term...."

When the hiss of the flame cultivator died away, and the motor of the last tractor was throttled down, the farmers turned away toward their trucks. They walked swiftly toward their cars.

They moved purposefully, like men carrying a message. They looked back toward the assembled machines before they drove into the distance.

Q: How an individual worker is protected by the Taft Hartley Law?

A: Take one example. As an individual, a worker may bring an unfair labor practice charge against the union or his employer if he is threatened, discriminated against, or the union causes him to lose his job for any reason other than non-payment of union dues. There are many other provisions to protect the individual worker.

Q: How the Taft Hartley Law affects union organization activities?

A: The right of workers to organize and bargain collectively, as in the Wagner Act, is guaranteed and protected. Employers are prohibited from coercing or intimidating workers when they exercise these rights. In addition, unions are prohibited from coercing or intimidating employees to induce them to join the union.

Don't Miss It!!

TWO YEARS AGO

By Virginia Sass

On September 2, 1945, the Japanese officially surrendered on the U. S. S. Missouri. Yes, it is two years since the Japanese stopped fighting, but to see the conditions there today, one would think that it was only yesterday. The towering factory smoke stacks stand like giant trees denuded and ghostly after a devastating forest fire. Miles of twisted steel is rust-colored above the heaped-up rubble. Criss-cross paths lead from one tiny garden to another, the green growth mercifully softening the picture and holding off starvation for multitudes. Wherever the debris can be pushed back, vegetables are growing. The major part of Tokyo is a shambles, but the business section of fireproof buildings is intact.

Schools are reopening, but under great difficulties. Many cities were bombed almost beyond recognition. Mission schools became rubble, too. There were 1,800 Protestant churches in Japan before the war, of which 540 were bombed and burned and 200 more dismantled or dynamited by Japanese authorities to keep fires from spreading. The churches wiped out leave approximately one-half of the Protestants in Japan without church homes. In Japan today there are about 1,800 full-time Christian workers, men, and women. Of 20 churches in Yokohama before the war, only three are still standing.

Sunday in prewar Tokyo was always a blaze of color because of the beautiful kimonos, now conspicuous by their absence. The ugly, baggy trousers in general use by the women are more economical. Girls in offices and stores wear simple western garb, no stockings and locally made shoes or sandals. Men's clothing shows signs of extreme poverty. In the hotels there are no menus. Uniform plates are served to all. If one doesn't like the assortment, he goes hungry until the next meal. It is good clean food, evidently designed to keep one's weight down. Sugar and fresh fruits are very scarce. No one can eat without a ration card.

The government is trying to shape up a public works program. Total unemployment is expected to reach 6,730,000 by end of year, says the Nippon Nutrition to withstand epidemics, act. Times. Babies are too weak from malnutrition to army doctors. There is practically no milk available. The government is trying to hold the city of Tokyo to 4,000,000 people because of the difficulty of bringing food from the country. There were 6,000,000 in the city before the war.

The cost of rebuilding is high. Carpenters cost $7.00 a day. This is 60 times prewar. Some localities in Japan have been rebuilt after earthquakes, but now there is a nation to build.

Junk Your Car?

Get a License

With the steady increase in the number of cars going out of service, the office of the secretary of state has called attention to the importance of obtaining junking certificates for vehicles that are to be discarded or junked.

These certificates, it was stated, give the owner of the vehicle assurance that the title will be removed from circulation, which is protection against the possibility that the engine and motor number may be picked up and used illegally in an attempt to obtain a title or a license for a stolen car, or for a vehicle assembled from stolen parts.

Applications for the junking certificates may be obtained from the Springfield or Chicago offices of the automobile department of the office of secretary of state, from notaries and other points where motor vehicle applications are usually available. These applications require a complete description of the vehicle and must be accompanied by the certificate of title, properly assigned to the applicant for the junking certificate.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our relatives and friends for the many lovely gifts and beautiful cards which we received in honor of our silver wedding anniversary. We also want to thank everyone who helped make our celebration very successful.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES W. LAUFFER

In observance of their silver wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lauffer were honored at a celebration in St. Mary's hall in Mokena Sunday evening. Two hundred and fifty relatives and friends were present.

The evening festivities began with a program with Russel Lauffer acting as master of ceremonies and Mrs. Hugo Neithammer as mistress of ceremonies. The setting was that of Fairyland, where two fairies, Delores Cooper and Audrey Neithammer, made the arrangements for a wedding. They were assisted by little fairies, Rita Haley and Marilyn Cooper. Mrs. Russel Lauffer sang "I Love You Truly," and the bridal party of little folks entered. The pretty little bride was Alma Lauffer, her attendants, Rita Haley and Marilyn Cooper, the bridesmaids, and Janet Haag, the flower girl. The groom was Charles Lester Lauffer. George Haley acted as ring bearer and the ushers were Ronnie and Ray Haag. Mrs. Edward Sproat was the pianist.

The little bride and groom presented a corsage to Mrs. Lauffer and a boutonniere to Mr. Lauffer, and they also presented Mr. and Mrs. Lauffer with a Bible.

Dressed in costumes of twenty-five years ago, Mrs. Vernon Haag and Donald Haley gave readings on "How I Met Father" and "How I Met Mother," respectively.

A reading "Father" was presented by Russel Lauffer.

Mrs. Minnie Blodgett read a poem which she had written in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lauffer, after which Mrs. Loren Sass presented them with a vase of white gladioli from the Marley church.

The program concluded with a group of songs in which the audience participated. The first was a clever arrangement of "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet," with Mrs. Russel Lauffer singing the verses and the audience the chorus. The other songs were "In The Good Old Summer Time" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and visiting. At a late hour refreshments were served from a long table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a wedding cake. The table was appointed at each end with gladioli bouquets and white candles in crystal holders.

The new year for the Marley Woman's club was opened at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Sproat Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Madge Storm and Mrs. G. W. Bush assisted the hostess. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Alfred Sproat. Routine reports were presented. It was announced that the fall triannual will be held at the Methodist church in Lockport September 30. Reservations are to be made with the secretary, Mrs. Wilbur Cearfoos, before September 23.

Mrs. Charles Sievert presented the program, which opened with a group song, "Old Black Joe," accompanied by Mrs. Russel Lauffer. A demonstration on making corsages was given by Mrs. Loren Sass. Mrs. Russel Lauffer presented an article on "Amelda Adams and Her Seeing Mind." An article on "Discipline" was given by Mrs. Everett Bell. "Don't Be An About Asperin" was the topic given by Mrs. Minnie Blodgett.

Mrs. Sievert concluded her program with two poems, "Soul of a Child" and "Calling Junior."

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Gorham were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eberhardt in Joliet.

Those who attended the Wheatland plowing match Saturday from here were Mr. and Mrs. John B. Handorf, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson, Cheryl Sass, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lauffer, Harry Sproat, Perry Bishop, Glen Sproat, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Gorham and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sproat, John McGovern, and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Storm.

Dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Madge Storm and Mrs. Louise Cutler Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bridge and children, George and Neda, of Elwood and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cutler.

Mr. Alfred L. Severson, executive director of the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind, talked during the morning worship service in the Marley church Sunday. Mr. Severson gave an interesting review of the work accomplished by the blind at the Lighthouse.

Mrs. Mary Marshall and Mrs. A. J. Cleveland were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Battenhouse in Lemont Sunday, where they helped Mrs. Battenhouse celebrate her 85th birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mathias of Chicago were week-end guests in the home of Miss Kate Haas.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bisping and son Raymond spent Sunday at the Ed Knapp cottage on the Kankakee river.

Mr. and Mrs. John Riley had as their guests Sunday Mrs. Margaret Bell and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Blum of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bruhn and daughter Lois and Mrs. Emma Egger and daughter Laura of Mokena and Mr. and Mrs. John Nagel of Blue Island were entertained Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bruhn.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nelson returned to their home Saturday evening after spending several weeks in Indiana.

Mrs. Homer Sabin is spending three weeks in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cooper, at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weideman are the parents of a baby girl born September 10 in the Little Company of Mary hospital in Evergreen Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bisping and Mrs. Ida Knapp spent Saturday in Blue Island.

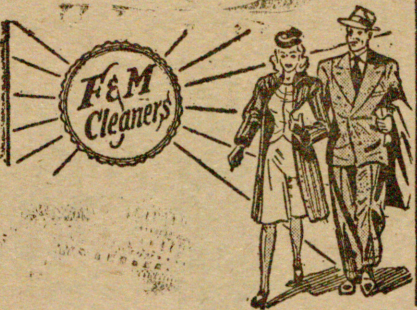

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Storm of DeKalb were Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. C. F. Haley.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Peterson and sons of Chicago spent Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Kohl entertained their home Thursday evening. Pretained several guests at a card party sent were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Long and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hentch and sons of Mokena and Mr. and Mrs. C. James and Mrs. Mary Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lauffer and son Kenneth, Mrs. Alfred Sproat and daughter Lois, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sproat and daughter Laurel attended a Savage family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Fruit at Earlville Sunday.

"Here comes MORE service!"

Wherever you go these days you see Illinois Bell men working.

Yes, thousands of men are busy improving and expanding your telephone service. Ultimately it will mean more speed, accuracy and reliability on your calls. Our installers are putting in telephones at the rate of more than 1,000 every working day—in a constant race against the continuous flow of new applications for telephone service.

Fourteen new buildings and 32 additions to present buildings are now under construction, and in 1947 alone we're adding nearly half a million miles of wire and installing almost 1,000 switchboard positions. The factories of Western Electric Company, our supplier, are humming day and night to provide us with the thousands of items we need.

The job is big, but we mean to keep at it until it is finished; until we can say:

"Here's your telephone service—even finer and faster than ever before, with enough for all who want it!"

EUREKA! IT'S PUMPKIN TIME... Fields of golden pumpkins are ripening near Eureka, Ill., pumpkin center of the world, which will stage its fifth annual Pumpkin Festival September 26 and 27.

IN THESE UNITED STATES

10,000 Free Pies Lure Visitors To Eureka's Pumpkin Festival

WNU Features.

EUREKA, ILL.—Luscious, golden brown pumpkin pies "just like mother used to bake"—more than 10,000 of them, in fact—will be given away to visitors as one of the major attractions of the fifth annual Eureka Pumpkin Festival, September 26 and 27.

The free pies and other features of the celebration will be aimed to assure visitors that Eureka is the pumpkin center of the world. No city, town or hamlet in the world cans as much fancy pumpkin as Eureka, the town's canneries proudly boast. The canneries packed a sizable portion of the 1,324,675 cases which comprised last year's commercial pack of pumpkin in the United States.

The spirit of a century-old celebration pervades the annual Pumpkin Festival, timed to coincide with the peak of the pumpkin harvest. During the early 1830s, the small community of Walnut Grove held an all-day picnic called "Burgoo." For more than a century the affair had lapsed, but in 1939 the nearly forgotten picnic was revived in Eureka, its modern counterpart being termed the Pumpkin Festival.

Although the 1939 plans called for only a small local celebration, the affair expanded rapidly into a two-day program. It has been maintained annually since then with exception of the war years. Revived in 1946, the festival attracted more than 50,000 visitors.

Inaugurating the 1947 festival will be the first bowl football game ever held in the state of Illinois. Appropriately dubbed the "Pumpkin Bowl Game," the contest will pit Eureka college gridders against the Kirksville, Mo., state teachers under the floodlights of Eureka stadium.

Honor guest of the celebration will be the screen star, Ronald Reagan, Eureka's "home town boy," and his wife, Jane Wyman, also of the films. Illinois state officials also will participate in the various programs. Reagan, an alumnus of Eureka schools, will take part in dedicatory ceremonies for a new school of speech building on the Eureka campus.

Proving that pumpkins represent the major interest not only for farmers and canneries, housewives of Eureka and vicinity will show their skill at making pumpkin pies by competing in a pie-baking contest while younger fry will vie in the traditional pie-eating contest.

Selection of the Pumpkin Queen will be another festival attraction. Miss Patricia Stevens, modeling agency head, will be among the judges.

A parade featuring decorated floats, band concerts and other musical entertainment will help to round out a full program of events for the two-day festival.

Newlyweds Evade In-Law Difficulties

TULSA, OKLA.—When Jeannie Madsen became Mrs. Lee Odom, she could anticipate a minimum of mother-in-law trouble.

Her marriage made her mother, Mrs. Charles Madsen Odom, her mother-in-law. The mother, a widow, previously had married Lee Odom's father, J. T. Odom.

Now, young Odom is the son-in-law of his stepmother and a stepson-in-law of his father.

The bride is the step-daughter-in-law of her own mother and her former stepbrother is her husband.

Historic Iron Mines Are Reopened

RINGWOOD, N. J.—Idle for 16 years, the historic Ringwood iron mines, which produced the cannon of "Old Ironsides" and the Hudson river defense chain in Revolutionary war days, have been reopened.

The 877-acre property between the Hope and Whaleback mountains was purchased by Ringwood Mines, Inc., from War Assets Administration for $1,275,000.

No 'Daily Bread'—Prayer Revised

ROME.—Catholic Eskimos no longer will have to pray for their "daily bread," a form of nourishment unknown to them. A recent papal bull permits them to have their own version of the Lord's prayer.

Like all other Christians, the Eskimos hitherto have had to pray for their "daily bread," although, since they raise no grain, they bake no bread. According to the new papal dictate, they now can pray: "Give us this day our daily fish."

Abandoned School Serves Community Club for 25 Years

MANKATO, MINN.—Formed a quarter century ago because a schoolhouse was abandoned, the Spring Lake Community club recently celebrated its 25th anniversary.

When four adjacent school districts were consolidated and a new schoolhouse was built at Rapidan in 1922, the little old schoolhouse which had served the Spring Lake community was to be discarded. Young men of the community, deciding that the building would make an ideal community gathering place, led a movement for formation of the Spring Lake Community club. The building has been retained as the meeting place since then.

The old school bell still hangs in the belfry of the clubhouse. Instead of summoning children to school, it now is rung only on occasions of celebration or alarm.

As membership of the club is comprised almost wholly of farmers, work of the club is tucked in between planting and threshing and taking care of the livestock.

Club meetings feature speeches and discussions on pertinent world and agricultural problems. Potluck suppers and contests are frequent attractions.

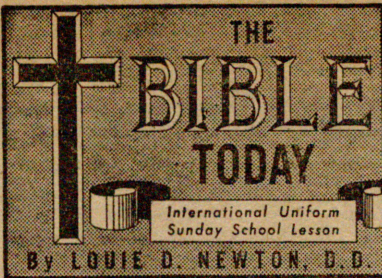

When club repairing or cleaning must be done, the project is not considered work but a club gathering, with everyone who can hold a hammer, saw, mop or scrub brush turning out.

Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota was honor guest at the 25th anniversary dinner.

Providing a note of levity on the program was the reading of the minutes of club meetings for the entire 25 years. One entry in early club minutes read, "It was decided that the club buy a cord of wood and the men come and split it."

In the 1938 minutes this item appeared: "Painting of the clubhouse will soon begin—just as soon as threshing and other exchange work is done."

habitants of this 200-year-old mining community returned happily from their "exile" in the factories of New York. Eventually, it is expected, the mines will employ 600 men. Most memorable casting from the old mines was the immense chain which was hung across the Hudson river below West Point during the Revolutionary war to prevent British ships from sailing up the river to bombard towns and forts.

SCRIPTURE: Proverbs 3:5-7; 4:23; 6:16-19; 9:10; 14:34; 15:1; 16:18; 21:3; 22:1; 27:1. 2; 28:1; 29:18; James 4:17. DEVOTIONAL READING: Proverbs 18:1-9.

Guidance From Proverbs

Lesson for September 21, 1947

Dr. Newton

OUR study of Sunday's lesson centers about the idea of goodness, which is a rather trite-sounding theme, but very vital, I assure you, and quite interesting. The Scripture passages are all found in Proverbs, save one, and that from the very practical preacher of the New Testament, James, chapter 4, verse 17.

Perhaps you will find the passages from Proverbs as helpful and interesting as I did. It will require but two minutes to read them—Proverbs 3:5-7; 4:23; 6:16-19; 9:10; 14:34; 15:1; 16:18; 21:3; 22:1; 27:1, 2; 28:1; 29:18. And after you have devoted two minutes to the reading of these passages, you will have something to think about for the rest of the day, the week, all your life.

One Man's Experience

A VERY successful business man in Atlanta, a shoe manufacturer, was telling me his life story one day as we fished together at Homosassa, Fla. Finally, he said:

"Do you know the passage in the Bible that has meant most to me as a rule and guide for my faith and practice?"

I wondered what he would say. And then he quoted from Proverbs 3:5-7.

"Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. Be not wise in thine own eyes; fear the Lord, and depart from evil."

The Essence of Goodness

WHAT is goodness? We talk about good men and bad men, good times and bad times, good luck and bad luck. Just what is goodness?

Jesus himself once said to a young man:

"There is none good but One, that is, God." Mark 10:18.

Goodness then, permit me to suggest, is what happens when God lives in us. We can never know goodness apart from God, try as we may. The essence of goodness, therefore, is found in that heart, in that life, that sincerely prays, "Thy will be done."

The Essence of Badness

GUIDANCE from these great Proverbs identifies the things that we are to shun as well as the things we are to do—the essence of badness as well as the essence of goodness. Here are the seven things that God hates—the seven qualities of heart that constitute the essence of badness:

"Haughty eyes, a lying tongue, hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that deliberately plans wickedness, feet which are swift in running to mischief, a false witness who utters lies, and one who sows discord among brethren."

Analyze these seven qualities of heart, and you have the explanation of the woes of the world. Many clever modern books toy with these deadly sins, trying to make them seem good, but no amount of decoration can atone for the heart that consistently entertains these cancers of hell.

The Individual and Society

I LIKE the impact of these Proverbs. They begin with the individual. They fruit in society. Individuals who "trust in the Lord with all thine heart," will "exalt a nation." It is not enough to put better food in peoples' stomachs, better clothes on their bodies, better roofs over their heads. These are essential as expressing the better life; but you have got to give people something to live for as well as something to live on.

Good business depends upon good business men. Good international relations depend upon good nations. Good race relations depend upon good races.

We have been greatly enheartened by the establishment of United Nations as a world idea and ideal. Will it succeed? The answer is found not in dollars and bullets, but in hearts that always "trust in the Lord."

"Except the Lord build the house, They labor in vain that build it; Except the Lord keep the city, The watchman waketh but in vain." —Psalm 127:1

Australia to Standardize Rails Over 18,000 Miles

Australia's independent state railroads now plan to adopt the standard gauge, which means relaying the 18,000 of the 24,000 miles of tracks that are using other gauges. This chaotic situation, which requires passengers and freight to be transferred from one system to another as many as four times between certain cities, has existed for 94 years, incurred an economic loss of $2,400,000,000 and will cost to correct nearly $800,000,000.
